New Testament Commentary Mary Coloe PBVM

As the Letter to the Hebrews draws to a close, the writer's aim to encourage the faith of the community becomes very clear. The entire letter has often been compared to a homily, exhorting the congregation to keep faith. The exact date and location of the letter is not known, but from the clues in the letter the community is undergoing difficulty, perhaps even persecution. Such suffering is likened to the instructive training of a child who may need punishment and reprimands. Earlier in this letter the author had stated that even Jesus was taught in this way: 'Although he was a Son, he learned obedience through what he suffered.' (Hebrews 5:8). So too the Christian, whose life is modelled on that of Jesus, must also expect to suffer trials. This type of theological thinking reflects the Wisdom tradition where we find:

My child, do not despise the Lord's discipline or be weary of his reproof, for the Lord reproves the one he loves, as a father the son in whom he delights. (Proverbs 3:11-12)

Rather than see suffering and difficulties as a sign of God's absence, the believer is exhorted to receive these as signs of God love.

In the Gospel, Jesus is now on a journey south to Jerusalem and a question is asked, 'will there be only a few saved?' Hear the urgency of the question put to him as he preaches about the reign of God: 'How many will get in?' In other words, 'What about me, will I be saved?' I suspect that sometimes we all ask such a question – 'will I go to heaven?' Jesus does not give a direct number, but replies with a parable. Not for him are those religions that promise salvation to a predetermined finite number. God's hospitality is expansive, all are invited, and yet the caution is given that the opportunity to respond to God's invitation is not going to be available forever. Like the person who shuts down for the night, there will come a time when the invitation expires.

Have you ever had the experience of issuing an invitation and getting the reply, 'Can I let you know later?' In other words, I'm interested if nothing better comes along. The reign of God asks more than such a half-hearted response. It calls for a clear commitment, 'Yes' or 'No'. In Jesus' presence, God is inviting all to participate in God's desire for a world of wholeness, justice and peace. The offer is being made and it is modelled in Jesus' lifestyle. Now is the time to make the choice and don't think you can put this off till later.

While the initial question asks, 'Will I be saved?' which places the responsibility for salvation on Jesus, his reply turns this question back on each individual. Do you want to be? If so, there are things you need to do about it. The parable leaves the choice of salvation to each person not to Jesus. It is as if Jesus is saying to us, 'You have the invitation, do you want it?'

First Reading

Isaiah 66:18-21

The Lord says this: I am coming to gather the nations of every language. They shall come to witness my glory. I will give them a sign and send some of their survivors to the nations: to Tarshish, Put, Lud, Moshech, Rosh, Tubal, and Javan, to the distant islands that have never heard of me or seen my glory. They will proclaim my glory to the nations. As an offering to the Lord they will bring all your brothers, on horses, in chariots, in litters, on mules, on dromedaries, from all the nations to my holy mountain in Jerusalem, says the Lord, like Israelites bringing oblations in clean vessels to the Temple of the Lord. And of some of them I will make priests and Levites, says the Lord.

Responsorial Psalm

Ps 116. R. Mk 16:15

(R.) Go out to all the world and tell the Good News.

1. O praise the Lord, all you nations,
acclaim him all you peoples! (R.)
2. Strong is his love for us;
he is faithful for ever. (R.)

Second Reading

Hebrews 12:5-7, 11-13

Have you forgotten that encouraging text in which you are addressed as sons? My son, when the Lord corrects you, do not treat it lightly; but do not get discouraged when he reprimands you. For the Lord trains the ones that he loves and he punishes all those that he acknowledges as his sons. Suffering is part of your training; God is treating you as his sons. Has there ever been any son whose father did not train him? Of course, any punishment is most painful at the time, and far from pleasant; but later, in those on whom it has been used, it bears fruit in peace and goodness. So hold up your limp arms and steady your trembling knees and smooth out the path you tread; then the injured limb will not be wrenched, it will grow strong again.

Gospel Acclamation

John 14:6

Alleluia, alleluia! I am the way, the truth, and the life, says the Lord; no one comes to the Father, except through me. Alleluia!

Gospel

Luke 13:22-30

Through towns and villages Jesus went teaching, making his way to Jerusalem. Someone said to him, 'Sir, will there be only a few saved?' He said to them, 'Try your best to enter by the narrow door, because, I tell you, many will try to enter and will not succeed.

'Once the master of the house has got up and locked the door, you may find yourself knocking on the door, saying, "Lord, open to us" but he will answer, "I do not know where you come from." Then you will find yourself saying, "We once ate and drank in your company; you taught in our streets" but he will reply, "I do not know where you come from. Away from me, all you wicked men!"

'Then there will be weeping and grinding of teeth, when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves turned outside. And men from east and west, from north and south, will come to take their places at the feast in the kingdom of God.

'Yes, there are those now last who will be first, and those now first who will be last.'

Reflection for Young People

By Lisa-Marie Calderone Stewart

Life's problems can be seen as challenges that help you to grow well and to learn important skills. As God's creatures are imperfect, so we need to help one another toward a final perfection that is a gift from God.

What difficulty or crisis in your life has taught you a lot? Do you think you have grown from dealing with it? How?

Discipline from parents and teachers and coaches is often not desired, yet it is usually given because of love.

What do you think motivates parents and teachers and coaches? Why do they do the things they do for you? What is their purpose as they attempt to give you discipline?

How have you benefited from the discipline and influence of parents, teachers or coaches? Have other adults in your life helped you become a more mature individual? Who are they and what influence have they had?
