Scripture Commentary by Dianne Bergant CSA

Come and join in Your master's happiness shalom, means fullness of life. Thus the psalm begins and ends on a similar note: 'Happy are those who fear the Lord' and 'Peace'.

Today Paul links the two Greek words for time, 'times and seasons' (chrónos and kairós). The first word denotes successive, measured time; the second refers to a decisive moment in time. Paul seems to imply that the first kind of time needs no explanation, and the second kind has no explanation. Paul then discusses some characteristics of the 'Day of the Lord'. He employs two very powerful metaphors to describe this day. It is like a thief in the night, or like the birth pangs of the Messiah. The first image refers to the sudden and unexpected appearance of that day; the second points to the suffering that will precede it. Though thief is negative, 'birth pangs' suggest new life.

The initial behaviour of the man who goes on a journey indicates that he has great confidence in all three of his servants, for he gives each one a significant amount of money. A talent equalled 6,000 denarii, and one denarius was a day's wage. Therefore, even the servant who received only one talent was entrusted with a sizable sum of money. Two servants were very industrious; the third made an excuse for himself. The parable throws light on the meaning of preparedness. It consists of active engagement, of creative growth. One's eschatological future does not rest on the extent or quality of one's talent, but on how one uses that talent as one waits for the master to return.

The first reading praises a woman who traditionally has been described as virtuous or worthy. However, the much stronger Hebrew adjective denotes might or strength, the kind of valour found in armies. The woman is an example of industry, versatility, trustworthiness, constancy and general goodness. It is in the last verse that we discover the basis of her virtue and the real reason for the praise given her. She is one who fears the Lord, a characteristic that is the basis of wisdom (see Prov 1:7). She is the model, not primarily of the good wife, but of the wise person generally. She is virtuous and successful because she possesses the wisdom that flows from fear of the Lord.

The wisdom psalm begins with a formal statement designating a person or group as blessed or happy (v.1) and identifying the basis of the happiness. The blessed are those who fear the Lord, who walk in God's ways (vv.1,4); the blessings are material good fortune and a large and extended family (vv.2-3). The last verses of the psalm (vv.5-6) redirect the focus from the good fortune of the individual to the blessing enjoyed by the nation. The final statement (v.6b) is less a prayer than an exclamation: 'Peace upon Israel!' Peace,

First Reading

Proverbs 31:10-13. 19-20. 30-31

A perfect wife – who can find her? She is far beyond the price of pearls. Her husband's heart has confidence in her, from her he will derive no little profit. Advantage and not hurt she brings him all the days of her life. She is always busy with wool and with flax, she does her work with eager hands. She sets her hands to the distaff, her fingers grasp the spindle. She holds out her hand to the poor, she opens her arms to the needy. Charm is deceitful, and beauty empty; the woman who is wise is the one to praise. Give her a share in what her hands have worked for, and let her works tell her praises at the city gates.

Responsorial Psalm

Ps 127:1-5. R. v.1

(R.) Happy are those who fear the Lord.

1. O blessed are those who fear the Lord and walk in his ways!
By the labour of your hands you shall eat.
You will be happy and prosper. (R.)
2. Your wife like a fruitful vine in the heart of your house;
your children like shoots of the olive, around your table. (R.)
3. Indeed thus shall be blessed the man who fears the Lord.
May the Lord bless you from Zion in a happy Jerusalem
all the days of your life. (R.)

Second Reading

1 Thessalonians 5:1-6

You will not be expecting us to write anything to you, brothers, about 'times and seasons', since you know very well that the Day of the Lord is going to come like a thief in the night. It is when people are saying, 'How quiet and peaceful it is' that the worst suddenly happens, as suddenly as labour pains come on a pregnant woman; and there will be no way for anybody to evade it.

But it is not as if you live in the dark, my brothers, for that Day to overtake you like a thief. No, you are all sons of light and sons of the day: we do not belong to the night or to darkness, so we should not go on sleeping, as everyone else does, but stay wide awake and sober.

Gospel Acclamation

John 15:4. 5

Alleluia, alleluia! Live in me and let me live in you, says the Lord; my branches bear much fruit. Alleluia!

Gospel

Matthew 25:14-30

Jesus spoke this parable to his disciples: 'The kingdom of heaven is like a man on his way abroad who summoned his servants and entrusted his property to them. To one he gave five talents, to another two, to a third one; each in proportion to his ability. Then he set out. The man who had received the five talents promptly went and traded with them and made five more. The man who had received two made two more in the same way. But the man who had received one went off and dug a hole in the ground and hid his master's money. Now a long time after, the master of those servants came back and went through his accounts with them. The man who had received the five talents came forward bringing five more. "Sir", he said "you entrusted me with five talents; here are five more that I have made." His master said to him, "Well done, good and faithful servant; you have shown you can be faithful in small things, I will trust you with greater; come and join in your master's happiness." Next the man with the two talents came forward. "Sir," he said "you entrusted me with two talents; here are two more that I have made." His master said to him, "Well done, good and faithful servant; you have shown you can be faithful in small things, I will trust you with greater; come and join in your master's happiness." Last came forward the man who had the one talent. "Sir," said he "I had heard you were a hard man, reaping where you have not sown and gathering where you have not scattered; so I was afraid, and I went off and hid your talent in the ground. Here it is; it was yours, you have it back." But his master answered him, "You wicked and lazy servant! So you knew that I reap where I have not sown and gather where I have not scattered? Well then, you should have deposited my money with the bankers, and on my return I would have recovered my capital with interest. So now, take the talent from him and give it to the man who has the five talents. For to everyone who has will be given more, and he will have more than enough; but from the man who has not, even what he has will be taken away. As for this good-for-nothing servant, throw him out into the dark, where there will be weeping and grinding of teeth."

Reflection for Young People

By Lisa Marie Calderone-Stewart

In the parable that Jesus tells in today's Gospel, the master praises the efforts of the first two servants, who used the talents they were given and improved upon them. The master criticises the action of the third servant, who hid the talent, did nothing, and was paralyzed with fear.

- When have you been like the first and second servants, using your talents in a way that benefits yourself and others?
- When have you been like the third servant, not using your talents and not bringing benefit to yourself or others?
